

Freshman students find it difficult to decide on off campus housing for sophomore year which would be most appropriate for their needs. An app that can help sort options for users would aid with this problem.